

From the author:

Dear PRB:

I am sending to you a new version of my book that I had previously sent to the PRB. I have taken out all the offending passages and made all necessary deletions from the redacted version that I received from you. I have sent this version to a publisher and, according to CIA's the rules regarding publication, I am providing you with a copy of the new, edited version.

Please send all correspondence to: (b)(6) My home address is:
